

2020 INDIGENOUS PEOPLES' DAY CALL FOR PROPOSALS FOR A VIRTUAL CELEBRATION

The Indigenous Peoples' Day Planning Committee is seeking proposals to include in this year's virtual Indigenous Peoples' Day celebration. Do you or your organization have expertise about a topic related to Indigenous history or culture? We invite you to share with the whole community as we prepare an all-day livestreamed event online.

We will be approving proposals on a rolling basis, so submit as early as possible, and no later than Friday, September 18, 2020. We need to have all programming details and pre-recorded components finalized by the end of September, so plan accordingly.

We are excited for this opportunity to learn from a wider variety of people than ever before. Perhaps you could do a short lesson on a Native language, on the history of Indigenous peoples in the FM area, or on current Native health disparities. Maybe you have an idea for a live panel discussion on intergenerational trauma, or an art project that could be done remotely. We are open to all ideas!

To submit a proposal, please complete this two-page application form and email to Planning@FargoND.gov, or return hard copies to the City of Fargo Planning Department (225 4th Street N, Fargo, ND 58102) no later than September 18. Call 701.241.1474 for more information. The committee will evaluate based on quality, feasibility, and cost. Each proposal will receive feedback from a committee member within a week of submitting.

Date: _____ Name of Applicant: _____

Name of Organization (if applicable): _____

Phone #: _____

Email Address: _____

Title of Proposed Program: _____

What is your proposal? Please provide several details, including the content, the format, the ideal audience, any materials required, estimated time, etc. (It is recommended that presentations or videos do not exceed 20 minutes; panels/discussions do not exceed 35 minutes; and activities do not exceed 45 minutes.)

Why would this be beneficial to share with the public on Indigenous Peoples Day?

What funding would be needed to create this proposal? While we have very limited funding to compensate for programming, to the best we can we want to reimburse costs associated as well as honor the talents and expertise of potential presenters.

Are there any other details you wish to provide?
