CITY OF FARGO
Board of Adjustment
Appeal of an Administrative Decision Staff Report

Item No: 2.a

Date: July 20, 2021

Appellant: Josh Gilleland, iDigital Outdoor

Status: Board of Adjustment – July 27, 2021

Summary of Record

Background:

A sign permit was issued on November 28, 2008 for the construction of a 672 square-foot, static, off-premise billboard, for property owned by Currier Company, located at 3980 Highway 81 N in Fargo (the subject property). The concrete foundation for the proposed billboard was installed prior to the end of 2008, after which, no further construction or improvements were made. No sign has ever been constructed on this foundation.

Three years later, in November 2011, the City of Fargo adopted a new sign code. The new sign code restricts billboard signs to a maximum size of 300 square feet at the subject property.

In 2012, ownership of the subject property was conveyed to 6037 Williston, LLC.

In March of 2021, the City of Fargo Inspections Department was contacted by Josh Gilleland of iDigital Outdoor (appellant) on behalf of the property owner, who inquired about constructing a billboard on the existing concrete footing in accordance with the sign permit issued in 2008. City staff determined that the 2008 sign permit was expired, and that any proposed sign construction would require a new sign permit and would need to comply with the current sign code, which would restrict an off-premise billboard to a maximum size of 300 square feet.

Shortly thereafter, an Appeal of Administrative Decision was filed by the appellant, who believes the sign permit issued in 2008 is still valid. The appellant argues that the construction of the sign foundation in 2008 “grandfathers” the construction of the billboard in accordance with the previous sign code that was in effect prior to the adoption of the current sign code.

Question Before the Board:

Did staff err in its determination that Sign Permit No. SG20080664, dated November 28, 2008, is expired and that the proposed sign can no longer be constructed under the terms of that sign permit?

Exhibits:

The following exhibits are admitted as part of this staff report and are attached:

- Exhibit 1 – Sign Permit Application
- Exhibit 2 – Sign Permit
- Exhibit 3 – Zoning Map & Aerial Photo for the area of 3980 US Highway 81 N
- Exhibit 4 – Parcel Report for the property at 3980 US Highway 81 N
- Exhibit 5 – Appeal materials from the appellant.

Relevant Facts

Staff believes that the following facts are relevant to the Board's consideration of this appeal:

1. The subject property is located at 3980 US Highway 81 N, Fargo, ND.
2. The sign permit in question (Sign Permit No. SG20080664) is dated November 28, 2008.
3. The proposed billboard sign was never constructed at the subject property.
4. The owner listed on the sign permit application and the sign permit is "Currier Company."
5. The current owner of the subject property is "6037 Williston LLC."

Relevant Code Provisions

Land Development Code Section 20-0916.G – Review and Action of Appeals by the Board of Adjustment

Appeals of Administrative Decisions shall be taken to the Board of Adjustment. The Board of Adjustment shall grant to the administrative official's decision a presumption of correctness, placing the burden of persuasion of error on the appellant. In exercising the appeal power, the Board of Adjustment shall have all the powers of the official from whom the appeal is taken, and the Board of Adjustment may reverse or affirm wholly or partly or may modify the decision being appealed. If the Board of Adjustment determines that it is necessary to obtain additional evidence in order to resolve the matter, it shall remand the appeal to the official from whom the appeal is taken, with directions to obtain such evidence and to reconsider the decision in light of such evidence. A concurring vote of four members of the Board of Adjustment shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision, or determination of an administrative official.

Land Development Code (Sign Code) Section 20-1303.B – Conformity With Sign Code Required

No person shall display, construct, erect, alter, use, or maintain any sign except in conformance with the provisions of this article, the sign code. No person shall display, alter, use, maintain, or enlarge any legal, nonconforming sign except in conformity with the provisions of this article, the sign code. No person shall perform or order the performance of any act contrary to the provisions of this ordinance or fail to perform any act required by the provisions of this article, the sign code.

Land Development Code (Sign Code) Section 20-1303.F – Action on Application.

The Building Official shall examine or cause to be examined applications for permits and amendments therewith within a reasonable time after filing. If the application does not conform to the requirements of pertinent laws, the Building Official shall reject such application in writing, stating the reasons therefore. If the Building Official is satisfied that the proposed work conforms to the requirements of this code and laws and ordinances applicable thereto, the Building Official shall issue a permit therefore as soon as practicable. In the event the Building Official has neither issued nor denied a complete application within 30 days of the submission of a complete application, the application shall be deemed approved and the proposed work or sign deemed permitted; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to allow a sign or supporting sign structure to not conform to the International Building Code, Chapter 21, or the Electrical Code, Chapter 23, of the Fargo Municipal Code.

Land Development Code (Sign Code) 20-1303.J – Design and Construction

All signs must comply with applicable provisions of the International Building Code and the Electrical Code, Fargo Municipal Code Article 21-01 and Chapter 23, respectively.

International Building Code Section 105.5 – Expiration

Every permit issued shall become invalid unless the work on the site authorized by such permit is commenced within 180 days after its issuance, or if the work authorized on the site by such permit is suspended or abandoned for a period of 180 days after the time the work is commenced. The building official is authorized to grant, in writing, one or more extensions of time, for periods not more than 180 days each. The extension shall be requested in writing and justifiable cause demonstrated.

Staff Analysis

Staff has determined that Sign Permit No. SG20080664, dated November 28, 2008, is expired and that the proposed sign can no longer be constructed under the terms of that sign permit. This determination is based on the fact that the permit is expired and the fact that the property is under new ownership.

Sign permits are not valid in perpetuity. Sign permits, like all building permits, are only valid for the period of time prescribed by law. Section 105.5 of the International Building Code states that, “Every permit issued shall become invalid unless the work on the site authorized by such permit is commenced within 180 days after its issuance, or if the work authorized on the site by such permit is suspended or abandoned for a period of 180 days after the time the work is commenced.” The appellant claims that the Building Code does not apply to signs, which are governed by the Sign Code. This is not true. As stated within Section 20-1303.J of the Sign Code, “All signs must comply with applicable provisions of the International Building Code and the Electrical Code, Fargo Municipal Code Article 21-01 and Chapter 23, respectively.” This includes the 180-day permit expiration provision of the International Building Code. According to the appellant, a foundation was poured and completed prior to 2009. No sign was ever constructed on the foundation and work authorized on the site by the permit was abandoned for a period of 12 years, which is well over 180 days. The City of Fargo received no requests for extension of this permit.

Additionally, the sign permit in question was issued for work on the subject property, which was owned by Currier Company, as noted on the sign permit application and the sign permit. Currier Company is no longer the legal ownership entity of the property—the property is currently owned by 6037 Williston LLC. When there is a change in ownership after the issuance of a building permit, the new owner must apply for a new permit if they wish to complete the work covered by the permit granted to the previous owner. Staff was never contacted regarding this change in ownership relative to the sign permit.

In summary, the Sign Code explicitly states that all signs must comply with applicable provisions of the International Building Code. The International Building Code contains provisions for the granting of permits, including the expiration of such permits. A sign permit is a building permit like any other, and subject to the same 180-day expiration standards. To say otherwise is to say that that sign permits are valid in perpetuity (regardless of changes to development regulations), which would be inconsistent with the City’s development regulations as well as the intent of the Sign Code.

Staff Recommendation

Staff recommends that the Board of Adjustment affirm staff’s decision that Sign Permit No. SG20080664, dated November 28, 2008, is expired and that the proposed sign can no longer be constructed under the terms of that sign permit.

Item for Appeal (attach separate sheet if more space is needed)
Existing permit that was filed for in October of 2008 has been deemed expired by the Fargo Inspections Department on 05/03/2021

Reason for Appeal (attach separate sheet if more space is needed)
This permit was applied for in October 2008, issued on November 28, 2008. At the time, a sign code change was being debated and a moratorium was rumored to be eminent. The landowner was concerned about the moratorium and inquired with the inspections department what needed to be done to solidify the permit for this location. Attached hereto is a notarized affidavit from the owner and permit applicant, Dave Currier, stating he was told that if the foundation was completed, this action would solidify the permit. The affidavit represents Mr. Curriers legal testimony and recollection of the information relayed to him by the inspections department which was done so over telephone. The Curriers are well respected members of the community and had a substantial investment in this permit; there is no reason to think Mr. Currier is not relaying the information as it was presented to him by staff of the inspections department.

GENERAL AFFIDAVIT

The within named person (Affiant), Dave Currier, who is a resident of Cass County, State of North Dakota, personally came and appeared before me, the undersigned Notary Public, and makes this his/her statement, testimony and General Affidavit under oath or affirmation, in good faith, and under penalty of perjury, of sincere belief and personal knowledge that the following matters, facts, and things set forth are true and correct, to the best of his/her knowledge:

To whom it may concern:

My name is David L Currier with Currier Company. I requested a sign permit dated 11-28-2008 (permit #SG20080664 which was issued and paid for). During the sign application process, I had a telephone conversation with the city of Fargo inspection dept. personal responsible for billboard signage that if we installed the sign footing prior to 12-31-2008 that would solidify the installation and could erect the 14'high x 35' wide sign post/sign when we wanted. I did supply all certified engineered drawings with the application of what we were going to install. The sign footing installation was completed prior to 12-31-2008 complying with all the codes for signage in 2008. I feel I have met all requirements and should be able to install the post and sign as originally planned at this time. I have $15,000 to $20,000 dollars in the sign engineering and foundation installation. I was never told by any city inspection official that the sign permit would expire. To the contrary I was told we could erect the post and sign when we wanted. My sign application should be grandfathered in as we did all required and were told the sign could be installed at our discretion. I have attached a copy of the sign application and permit issued. I am requesting to install the sign as agreed upon by the City of Fargo 11-28-2008.

Thank you,

David L Currier

RE: Billboard Permit - Appeal of Administrative Decision

Dear Board Members,

Thank you for taking the time to review this case. The initial arguments in our application outlined that the landowner applied for a billboard permit with the intentions of having a permanent permit in light of the impending sign code changes and moratorium on new billboard permits at the time of the application. The landowner inquired with the inspections department as to what he needed to do to ensure that permit was good forever in a grandfathered state. He abided by those instructions, paid for engineered drawings and installed an extensive footing that likely cost him nearly $20,000 (Exhibit 1). The landowner also owns a steel fabrication company, so it would have been a very easy and relatively inexpensive option for him to put up the pole. What we are arguing, is that he followed instructions, did what he thought (or so he was told) he needed to do to ensure the validity of that permit.

This brings me to another point that dawned on me during my research for this appeal. As an employee of iDigital Outdoor, we have permitted many different signs. Schedules are always running behind for contractors, we are up against the weather; there are additional details that get addressed by landowners, or issues with placement on their property. There are many different things that delay our company in putting up a billboard, so we often inquire with inspections, how long do we have to put up the sign before the permit expires? And we are given verbal guidance that “as long as the work has been started, you are good.” There are times, the work has not started for a period of time and the 180 day window approaches, so we ask for an extension and have been granted that extension. We ourselves have not run into a situation where the construction began, but was pending completion for a long period of time, so this is new territory for us to explore.

Further, in the research I have done, I was not able to locate any references to the suspension, expiration, termination, revocation, or abandonment of a permit, other than in (Exhibit 2) Article §20-1103 Remedies and Enforcement Powers, subsection A & B that gives the Building Official the right to withhold a permit or revoke a permit. I made a few calls and I am of the understanding that the City Sign Code does not address the suspension, expiration, termination, revocation, or abandonment of a permit, but rather the Inspections Department uses the Residential International Building Code (Exhibit-3) as a guideline to govern the expiration of a permit. In Chapter 1, section 105.5 – Expiration, it states “Every permit issued shall become invalid unless the work on the site authorized by such permit is commenced within 180 days after its issuance, or if the work authorized on the site by such permit is suspended or abandoned for a period of 180 days after the time the work is commenced. The building official is authorized to grant, in writing, one or more extensions of time, for periods not more than 180 days each. The extension shall be requested in writing and justifiable cause demonstrated.”

After pondering those words, it became clear to me and this is the primary argument of my appeal, that a building permit is not the same as a billboard permit. A building permit is a temporary permit that allows for the construction of said project, whether a home or general use building, until such time as the project has been completed and inspections have been concluded satisfactorily. That permit then goes away; it does not need to remain with the home in order for the home to remain standing and in place. The home's existence is not subject to the permit remaining in permanence and once that permit expires naturally or in other words is completed, the home is allowed to remain free from permit suspension, expiration, termination, revocation, or abandonment.

Not so with a billboard permit, it must remain with the sign in perpetuity for as long as that sign remains erect. It does not disappear once the construction is complete, it remains. As I have done many times before, you can request a copy of any billboard permit within the city limits, that permit is kept as the permanent record of that sign and outlines the specifications of what sign is allowed to be. For painting, maintenance and changes to the sign that do not affect the parameters by which it was originally permitted, there is no requirement for additional permits, further showing precedence that the permit never truly expires or terminates. So the argument is that a billboard permit is fundamentally different from a traditional building permit, it does not expire or terminate naturally like the building permits references in the International Building Code, but rather should be revoked or suspended by the Building Official if the intention was to not allow the permit holder carry that permit in perpetuity.

After Action:

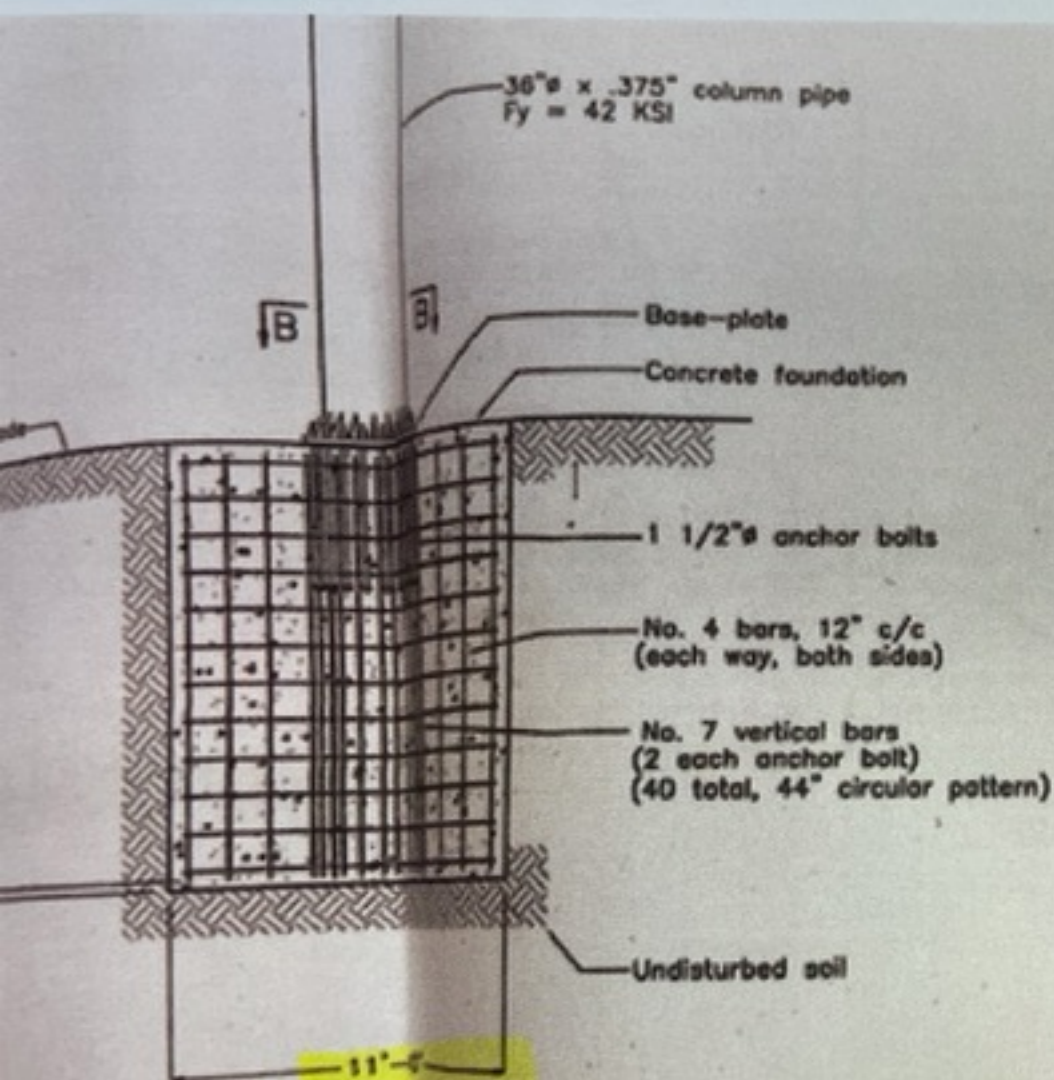

In citing these fundamental differences in the billboard permit, we are hoping that more than one positive can come out of this appeal. Due to the nature and differences of a billboard permit, we suggest that the guidelines and boundaries of the permits suspension, expiration, termination, revocation, suspension, and/or abandonment be added to the City of Fargo Sign Code. That way there can be a more straight forward interpretation that is specific to this perpetual permit.

Given the differing nature of the permit, the misclassification of its intended use and using permit guidelines of the Residential International Building Code that are not appropriate to this type of permit, we would also respectfully request that the Board overturn the administrative decision of the inspections department, grandfather this sign permit as a nonconforming sign and allow for the remainder of the sign to be erected.

Thank you so much for your time on this matter
