North Dakota Human Rights Film Festival
Native American Programs Director

This document identifies the primary responsibilities of the North Dakota Human Rights Film Festival Native American Programs Director.

Job title	NDHRFF Native American Programs Director
Reports to	NDHRFF Festival Director
Position Type	Contract, Variable Hours with emphasis in November Remote or office position In-person during festival in November
Position Dates	May - November 2021 Festival dates Nov. 3-6
Rate	$3,600 Total 1/3 at contract signing, 1/3 at mid-point, 1/3 at completion $25/m cell phone stipend

Job purpose

The Native American Programs Director is responsible for curating, developing, facilitating, and managing Native American Programming for the annual North Dakota Human Rights Film Festival (NDHRFF) and related year-round screenings.

Reporting to the Festival Director, the Native American Programs Director is responsible for the overall artistic direction, personality, and development of Native American programming for the festival; pro-actively developing partnerships with local, national, and international organizations, filmmakers and artists; catalyzing active participation in and knowledge of Native American filmmaking and arts community in North Dakota; developing fresh thinking for the festival’s education, community, outreach and volunteer programs; oversight of Native American programming and commission budget, and conducting staff/volunteer performance reviews for the festival.

The new Native American Programs Director will help lead the North Dakota Human Rights Film Festival forward, working in close partnership with the Festival Director to grow its artistic vision, scope, and scale, distinctive global reputation, and local audience impact specific to Native American filmmakers and human rights and social justice issues of meaning to local and national Indigenous communities.

The position will coordinate with the NDHRFF Festival Director and the Human Family Executive Director to bring experience and expertise in global cultural programming and artistic leadership and management.

The Candidate

Your passion for film production and human rights will ensure the festival educates and engages audiences by providing exciting, unique artistic experiences and in-depth and engaging discussions and perspectives around Native American filmmakers and human rights, social justice, and civil rights issues.

You will be on the ground and become deeply rooted in the character of North Dakota – its spaces, psyche, and communities while maintaining and continually extending your national network of artistic and creative relationships. You will help create and present a focused, curated festival reflecting NDHRFF's core mission and vision, providing audiences with a coherent experience they can recognize and be excited by, providing reliable representation of diversity, and actively promoting and lifting social justice human rights, and civil rights issues.

Your vision will achieve artistic excellence in all aspects of your programming, and you will stage and host a wide range of high-level world and North Dakota Premieres each season.

Outside of the festival as an event, you will also instill a sense of community, pride, and ownership of the festival within North Dakota, creating civic energy around the festival and fostering an appreciation of arts and creativity year-round arts-experienced community and also the wider public.

This opportunity allows you to showcase the best of Native American filmmaking to North Dakota and the world and take a key leadership position facilitating collaborations between artists from different genres both within North Dakota and throughout the cultural sector nationally and internationally. You are excited to be building a lasting legacy by aiding in the growth and success of local and regional North Dakotan artists and arts organizations at national and international levels.

Duties and responsibilities

The primary job duties and responsibilities for this position include, but are not limited to:

Programming Responsibilities:

- Assist in curating film and video programs, including narrative features, documentary features, short films, experimental films, and animations made by Native American filmmakers for the annual North Dakota Human Rights Film Festival and related year-round screenings.
- Works with the Festival Director to identify prospects for honored guests, artists in residence, guest directors, and curating special “event” programs for the Festival.
- Articulates the vision of the organization to the media and the community on a local, national, and international level.
- Cultivates strategic relationships with domestic and international filmmakers, distributors, sales agents, and national film promotional organizers to expand the programming opportunities for the festival.
- Generates own correspondence for programs – requests for screeners, invitations, thank you letters, and more.
- Consults and exchanges information with directors, producers, critics, programmers, distributors, and other industry professionals worldwide.
- Invites and negotiates (including the exceptional rental) for title’s inclusion in Festival presentation and year-round-programming.
- After the invitation is confirmed, coordinates all follow-through with the Festival Director and other festival teams.
- Coordinates with guest curators on special programs.
- Assists in pairing specific films with possible participating organizations or sponsors.
- Coordinate with other NDHRFF and Human Family departments to share information regarding the festival, the films, and any special needs.

Program Guide/Web Site Responsibilities

- Assists in writing and editing program notes and other text for catalogs, film guides, website, and other promotional material.
- Keeps Editor/Print Materials Manager up to date on program developments for own programs and others as need be.
- Selects stills to appear with program notes for own programs.
- Assists in the screening scheduling process for the festival.
- Assists in proofreading print materials and web site.
- Assists in making necessary changes and updates to website, as needed.

Supervisory Responsibilities

- Supervises direct volunteers to Native American Programming as needed.

Guest Services Responsibilities

- Consults with the Festival Director regarding invitations and hospitality budget.
- Coordinates with Guest Services regarding guests' special needs (hotel, per diem, interpreter, etc.)
- Hosts guests during their stay and make certain their needs are met, i.e., troubleshoot when necessary.

Publicity Responsibilities

- Strategizes with Publicity on angles for possible story pitches and/or interviews.
- Provides film notes, loglines, and other text for use in press materials and releases.
- Assists in proofreading press releases and addendums.
- Does print, radio, and TV interviews as requested.

Marketing Responsibilities

- Works with Marketing Department to develop and implement possible marketing approaches, including radio and print ads, specialty flyers, web initiatives, and other media. Provides film notes, loglines, and other text for use in marketing materials.
- Assists in proofreading radio and print ads, specialty flyers, web sites, etc.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Fargo Native American Commission

FROM: Catlyn Christie, Assistant Planner

DATE: April 30, 2021

RE: April Staff Report

This agenda item is an effort to summarize and memorialize issues, concerns, or staff action related to the work of the Native American Commission since the last meeting. During the meeting, the Chair may open for discussion or questions concerning these items.

1. Local COVID-19 Response

Planning staff continues to administer funding for several Covid-19 activities, including:

- ESHARA (Ethnic-Self-Help Alliance for Refugee Assistance) vaccine outreach targeted for New American community members;
- Rental assistance program operated by SENDCAA and Presentation Partners in Housing. To get connected to program, call 2-1-1.
- High Plains Fair Housing Eviction Prevention program, as detailed below.
- Family HealthCare Mobile Homeless Health Services
- Extra shelter beds for quarantine/isolation, social distancing, and overflow at the Gladys Ray Shelter Engagement Center, Churches United, and New Life Center

Beginning the week of April 26, Fargo Cass Public Health began hosting COVID-19 vaccine clinics from its main location of 1240 25th Street South, Fargo. Clinics will take place each Tuesday from 8:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. and each Thursday from 10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. Walk-ins are welcome at any time during scheduled clinic hours but appointments are strongly encouraged to streamline the registration process. For more information, go to the Fargo Cass Public Health vaccine webpage. According to the ND Department of Health dashboard, nearly 50% of Fargoans have received both doses of a Covid-19 vaccine.

2. Eviction Prevention

The High Plains Fair Housing Center is now offering an eviction prevention program to income-qualified residents living in Fargo (as well as Grand Forks and Bismarck). If eligible, potential eviction prevention services offered include referral to and help applying for rental assistance programs, assistance in completing the CDC Eviction Moratorium declaration form, and/or connection to a lawyer at no cost for assistance in eviction court. Call the intake line at 701-203-1077 or toll free at 1-866-380-2738.

Legal Services of North Dakota also provides legal assistance to low income and elderly North Dakotans for a variety of matters, including eviction prevention and enforcing protections offered by the CDC's Eviction Moratorium, which is effective through June 30, 2021. If you know of any evictions in North Dakota that do not advise the tenant of their CDC Eviction Moratorium protections, contact Adele Page at apage@legalassist.org or 1-877-232-5263 Ext. 313.

3. Housing and Homelessness

Last month, the Community Development Committee hosted presentations from service providers across the local housing continuum with the intent to spark ideas, understand different perspectives, and explore expectations of public service. The video is available at <https://download.fargond.gov/3/301-1-1.m4v>.

Presenters included Dan Madler and Lisa Rotvold of Beyond Shelter, Rob Swiers and Neal Hines of New Life Center, Jan Eliassen and Leah Siewert-Oberg of Harms Reduction Department of Public Health, and Sarah Kennedy of Presentation Partners in Housing. Each was asked to briefly answer the following questions:

- 1) With the understanding that housing is a human right, what do you see is the greatest gap or barrier in the housing continuum?
- 2) What is your ultimate vision of your program? (“if you had a magic wand....”)
- 3) How can City of Fargo (or City taxpayer funds) best support your mission?

Meanwhile, staff continues to coordinate with local shelters to secure funding for overflow needs through 2023. Overflow shelter support is critical as partners implement an intensive new “Homeless Prevention Project” over the next three years. With a recent $3 million commitment from the United Way for the Homeless Prevention Project, Fargo is on track to reducing homelessness by 90% in the metro area by the end of 2023. This evidence-based program targets resources to prevent and divert people in crisis from entering homelessness or the shelter system in the first place. This approach greatly increases their likelihood to “self-resolve” in a shorter period and avoid entering homelessness altogether.

Staff also continue to prepare the City’s “Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice” report, which identifies key housing issues such as patterns of segregation, disparities in housing needs for protected classes, and action steps the City will take to overcome the effects of the identified impediments. Staff will consult the Housing subcommittee for their expertise on fair housing challenges.

4. Federal Housing and Urban Development Programs

The 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan has been accepted and approved by HUD and the 2020 action plan’s programs are underway. The plan’s primary focus, in addition to rental assistance and eviction prevention, is supporting the Cass Clay Community Land Trust and Habitat for Humanity with building four new homeowner units. This will be the first time we use HOME funds for this activity, so initially the administration is burdensome for both partners and staff. However once set up, we hope this will begin to add more affordable homes for ownership within the City.

Another program City staff is supporting is partnering with developers (including the Fargo Housing Authority) on three new multi-family housing projects that have either broken ground or will be breaking ground this year. Lastly, in fall/winter of 2021, the City will be receiving additional HUD HOME dollars to provide housing, shelter, and services for people experiencing homelessness and other qualifying populations. This is a rare opportunity for Fargo to meet housing and service needs for its most vulnerable citizens ($1,697,107). More information on these funds will become available in the coming months.

5. Core Neighborhood Plan and Land Development Code Diagnostic

The Core Neighborhood Plan \(CNP\) and the Land Development Code \(LDC\) Diagnostic have reached important milestones. The presentation (and hopeful adoption) for both is tentatively scheduled for the May 17, 2021 City Commission meeting. For specific information about these activities, please contact Aaron Nelson at the Planning Department or visit the department's website to find the materials.

6. Fargo Public Library's "One Book One Community" Project

The Fargo, Moorhead and West Fargo public libraries, Concordia College's Carl B. Ylvisaker Library, Minnesota State University Moorhead's Livingston Lord Library, North Dakota State University Libraries, and the Historical and Cultural Society of Clay County have selected the national bestseller Everything You Wanted to Know About Indians But Were Afraid to Ask by Anton Treuer as the 2021 One Book, One Community selection.

Dr. Anton Treuer, a Professor of Ojibwe at Bemidji State University, is a racial equality advocate and acclaimed author of 20 books. His equity, education, and cultural work has put him on a path of service across region, the nation, and around the world. Copies of the book are available for check out in digital and physical formats at each of the participating libraries; book club kits will also be available. The library plans to give away some free copies, as well.

This year's One Book, One Community reading project launches in August and features several events including community book discussions, cultural presentations, and other engaging programs. The event series includes an author visit with Dr. Treuer and book signing on Tuesday, Oct. 26, at the Knutson Campus Center Centrum on the campus of Concordia College. Heather Keeler is lined up to introduce Anton at this event, and the event will be livestreamed.

There are two book discussions currently lined up and a few tentative events in the works thus far:

- "Braiding Sweetgrass" with Author Robin Kimmerer – online talk on August 11
- "Charles Albert Bender: National Hall of Fame Pitcher" with Author Kade Ferris – in-person talk at Moorhead Public Library on October 19

All of these events are free and open to the public. This project is made possible in part with funding from the Minnesota Arts & Cultural Heritage Fund. In addition, this project is generously supported by Concordia Cultural Events, the Friends of the Fargo Public Library, the Friends of the West Fargo Public Library, and the Friends of the Moorhead Library.

Event planners seek to collaborate with the Native American Commission and are currently in coordination with the Education and Cultural Awareness subcommittee. For more information, go to 1book1community.org.

7. Fargo Youth Initiative

Last month, the City's Fargo Youth Initiative mental health subcommittee presented to the Board of Health with their policy analysis and recommendations for improving youth mental health in Fargo. They conducted a needs assessment survey with over 450 responses, of which 60% reported personally having experienced mental health issues. Their top recommendations include a reduced homework policy, mandatory mental health check-ins with a counselor, and free in-school therapy. A recording of the presentation is available at <https://download.fargond.gov/5/294-1-1.m4v>, beginning at 6 minutes and 40 seconds.

The Fargo Youth Initiative's racial equity subcommittee will present to the Human Relations Commission on May 20. They found that 49% of respondents who reported identifying with at least one race/ethnicity other than Caucasian reported that they have been discriminated against or harassed based on the color of their skin, including 56% of students who identified as American Indian or Alaska Native. When asked, "Do you feel welcome in your community?" 50% of respondents who identified with at least one race/ethnicity other than Caucasian reported Yes, 40% Maybe, and 10% No, as compared to 69%, 25% and 6% of Caucasian-only students respectively. Students who identified as American Indian or Alaska Native responded 39% Yes, 36% Maybe, and 25% No.

8. Fargo Cass Public Health Community Health Assessment

A community health assessment is currently underway, and data from community surveys is expected within the next month. This assessment is conducted to identify primary health issues, current health status and needs, and to provide necessary information to make a positive impact on the health of the community's residents. These results enable organizations to strategically establish priorities, develop interventions and commit resources.

9. City of Fargo Director of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

Finalist interviews have been completed, and the position is expected to be filled within the next month.

10. Fargo Police Department

A representative will provide updates from the Fargo Police Department (FPD).

11. Arts & Culture Commission

Last month, the City's Arts and Culture Commission approved several art pieces to be placed on public infrastructure downtown (e.g., utility boxes and benches) as part of a new program called "Public Art Beyond Downtown Fargo." The program will be run by the Downtown Community Partnership (DCP), Business Improvement District (BID), and The Arts Partnership (TAP), and The Arts & Culture Commission will be involved in reviewing artwork proposed for public City infrastructure sites to ensure appropriateness. Attached are images of the approved artwork.

Public Art Beyond Downtown Fargo

On the following pages you will find the artwork selected for this project. These pieces will be digitally catalogued giving the viewer the opportunity to peruse and select local art to transform the object of choice.

In addition, each piece of art will only be printed on one utility box or similar space to ensure there are no multiple prints of the same design throughout the area.

The online catalog will allow a user to select a piece of artwork by clicking “Reserve Art Now”. Once selected that design is then greyed out indicating it is no longer available. The user will then select what type of canvas will be wrapped and be given the cost of the total project.

If the user agrees upon the cost, they will submit via the website and the process will begin in getting their canvas wrapped with the selected artwork.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Fargo Native American Commission
FROM: Catlyn Christie, Assistant Planner
DATE: April 30, 2021
RE: May Subcommittee Meetings

The Native American Commission was established by Resolution on June 19, 2006 as an advisory group to the City Commission. The purpose of the NAC is to develop recommendations for City participation in Native American projects/programs; inventory local Native American cultural assets; evaluate existing information on local Native American assets and needs; and provide oversight to City-funded Native American projects/programs/facilities.

Over the next 2 months, Planning staff have two objectives for subcommittee work for all its boards in order to capture a work plan that can be adopted by the City Commission for implementation in 2022 and 2023:

- 1) Confirm goal or problem area of focus
- 2) Make an action plan for process, including identifying barriers of concern

We ask that the leaders of each subcommittee be prepared to give status updates to the planning staff or the chair or vice chair in advance of their next board meeting, which is May 13. Subcommittees are encouraged to use any remaining time of the May to meet in the lobby of City Hall or elsewhere to further work on their priorities and goals. Staff have prepared the following worksheet to assist with framing next steps for subcommittees toward these objectives.

Subcommittee Worksheet

1. What specific problem or goal do you want to focus your recommendations on? Consider framing the problem in terms of “too much” or “not enough.” Try to narrow your focus to just one problem.
 - a. What is the evidence that this problem exists? What is your action plan to gather this data?

 - b. What are sub-problems of the main problem?

2. What are current local efforts to address your problem/goal? How will you learn more about related work by City departments, other agencies, etc., including what kind of support they need for success?

3. What are some other possible solutions? What are other cities or tribes doing successfully or what does research suggest?

4. How could you frame these solutions as recommendations to the City of Fargo, in terms of what it could implement, influence, or support financially?

5. Which of these recommendations should be prioritized the highest, and why?
 - a. What are the pros and cons of each idea, and which are most important? How effective has each proved through implementation elsewhere? What may be unique local challenges?

 - b. Who will you contact for technical assistance and expertise to help answer the above questions? (e.g., expert knowledge, City of Fargo organizational knowledge, historical context, etc.)

6. How will you present your top recommendations? Do any require funding, and how might it align with the annual budget cycle which begins each spring?
