The WHPP is an intercampus event jointly sponsored by Concordia College, Minnesota State University Moorhead, North Dakota State University, and Minnesota State Community and Technical College. Each year, the event's hosting rotates between the sponsoring colleges.

The annual Woodlands and High Plains Powwow is one of the most popular cultural events in the Fargo-Moorhead area. This year we expect over 3000 spectators and 200 dancers. This annual gathering is an opportunity for people from all ages and backgrounds to celebrate and recognize Native American tradition and culture, honor American Indian graduates, and provide our community with a sense of pride in the American Indian heritage.
